Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 21, 26, 34, and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Moore et al. US 2004/0039489 (“Moore”). Moore discloses:

21. A water irrigation system, comprising:

irrigation equipment (e.g., Fig. 1 #122,124);

a computer system (e.g., Figs. 1-2 #120); wherein the computer system is configured to control the irrigation equipment to irrigate an irrigation zone based on a programmed irrigation schedule (e.g., [0043]: “the watering schedule”), wherein the programmed irrigation schedule is at least partially based on the region where the irrigation zone is located (e.g., [0097]-[0098]);

at least one sensing unit, the sensing unit comprising a wind sensor configured to assess the wind speed in the region (e.g., Fig. 2 #117, [0097]: “weather sensors 117 may be located on-site...wind sensor inputs may provide on-site values”, [0119]); and wherein the computer system is configured to inhibit irrigation of the irrigation zone when an assessed wind speed exceeds a predetermined speed (e.g., [0119]: “if the wind is blowing too hard...an irrigation cycle can be interrupted”); and at least one receiver coupled to the computer system (e.g., Figs. 1-2 #116), wherein the receiver is configured to receive community irrigation instructions generated for the region and send the community irrigation instructions to the computer system (e.g., [0052]-[0062]), wherein the community irrigation instructions override the programmed irrigation schedule (e.g., [0043]: “improve the watering schedule”, [0132]).

26. The system of claim 21, wherein the community irrigation instructions result in one or more of the following actions: termination of an irrigation cycle, reduction in duration of an irrigation cycle, reduction in frequency of an irrigation cycle, rescheduling of an irrigation cycle, and initiation of an irrigation cycle (e.g., [0043], [0132]).

34. A method of controlling irrigation of an irrigation zone, comprising:

providing a programmed irrigation schedule to a water irrigation system (e.g., [0043]: “the watering schedule”), wherein the programmed irrigation schedule is at least partially based on the region where the irrigation zone is located (e.g., [0097]-[0098]), the water irrigation system comprising:

irrigation equipment (e.g., Fig. 1 #122,124);

a computer system (e.g., Figs. 1-2 #120); wherein the computer system is configured to control irrigation equipment to irrigate an irrigation zone based on the programmed irrigation schedule (e.g., [0043]: “the watering schedule”);

at least one sensing unit configured to assess wind speed in the region (e.g., Fig. 2 #117, [0097]: “weather sensors 117 may be located on-site...wind sensor inputs may provide on-site values”, [0119]); and at least one receiver coupled to the computer system (e.g., Figs. 1-2 #116), wherein the receiver is configured to receive remote irrigation instructions and send the remote irrigation instructions to the computer system (e.g., Figs. 1-2);

assessing the wind speed in the region (e.g., Fig. 2 #117, [0097]: “weather sensors 117 may be located on-site...wind sensor inputs may provide on-site values”, [0119]); inhibiting irrigation of the irrigation zone when an assessed wind speed exceeds a predetermined speed (e.g., [0119]: “if the wind is blowing too hard...an irrigation cycle can be interrupted”); receiving community irrigation instructions generated for the region (e.g., [0052]-[0062]); overriding the programmed irrigation schedule based on the community irrigation instructions (e.g., [0043]: “improve the watering schedule”, [0132]).

39. The method of claim 34, wherein the community irrigation instructions result in one or more of the following actions: termination of an irrigation cycle, reduction in duration of an irrigation cycle, reduction in frequency of an irrigation cycle, rescheduling of an irrigation cycle, and initiation of an irrigation cycle (e.g., [0043], [0132]).
